TV Antenna Franchise to Local Group

In a special meeting last night a community television antenna franchise was granted to a local group called the Hope Community TV Service Inc. The incorporators are Talbot Fields, Jr., W. H. Gunter Jr. and William R. Hooton.

The franchise was granted with the passage of an ordinance setting up conditions. The franchise was for 25 years.

Also at last night's meeting were representatives from two other groups seeking the local franchise, Floyd Bell and Conner Patton of Texarkana and David Mooney of Hot Springs.

The local group guaranteed the City Directors that installation or tie-in to the antenna would not exceed $15 and that monthly service would not exceed $5. The Corporation proposed to bring in three Little Rock channels, three Shreveport channels, one at El Dorado, and educational channel when it gets into operation, a 24-hour service on weather information, two FM bands that offer uninterrupted music, supply free of charge any five city departments requested and supply free to all Hope schools, and that at least 51 percent of the stock would be offered to local buyers.

Calf Vaccination Time Here Again

It's time for farmers to do calfhood vaccination again said Calvin Caldwell, County Agent. Vaccination of heifer calves against Bang's disease will begin on January 5. The calves should be between four and eight months of age.

Brooks Collins, technician, will do the vaccinating.

Farmers who have not turned in a request in and would like to have calves vaccinated should do so immediately the county agent said. Vaccination is good insurance protection against this very costly disease of cattle.

Eleven Unsolved Boston Murders

BOSTON (AP) — The new count in Boston, 11 men slain in unsolved gangland style murders in the Greater Boston area since March.

The latest was George E. Ash, 43, stabbed more than 50 times and shot in the head before his body was found in a parked car early Monday.

Ash had worked as a bartender in Boston's Brighton section after his release eight months ago from a Rhode Island prison.

He had served four years after conviction for his part in the Providence slaying of Albert G. Freeland.

A Boston police official said a feud between rival gang factions may account for the 11 killings and half a dozen attempted murders recently.

Weekend Traffic Deaths Hit 578

CHICAGO (AP) — The nation's traffic deaths over the weekend totaled 578, second highest toll for a three-day Christmas holiday weekend.

The record toll for a three-day Christmas holiday period is 609 set in 1955. This year's total compared with 396 fatalities reported in a three-day nonholiday weekend earlier this month.

Every Year Has a Lost Week, This Is Better Known as the Season of the Great Letdown

NEW YORK (AP) — Every year has a lost week.

"This is it — 'The season of the great letdown.'"

It is doubtful that an examination of American history would disclose any great inventions were conceived, any great poems written, any inspiring songs created between Christmas and New Year's Day.

It is not a week for doing great things; it is a week for hanging on — and hoping for better days.

Everyone is gripped by a kind of spiritual numbness and physical lethargy that has turned us all into ambulant zombies, drained of all feeling.

The season of govt. to all has passed, leaving us exhausted from Christmas satieties and excesses and mildly resentful of Santa Claus, whom we tend to blame for our blue and listless mood. Anyone who walks along the streets now absent-mindedly whistling "Jingle Bells" invites black looks.

What we all see mto need is a high-powered, double action, after-Christmas pep pill that will rescue us from the dumps and make us feel as good as we did just a week ago.

What happened anyway to that frolic sense of anticipation, that friendly sense of the joy of sharing, that pulse-throbbing thrill in the mere human ecstasy of being alive? They are

Nasser Tells America to Go to Hell But U.S. Going Ahead With Wheat Deal to Egypt

WASHINGTON (AP) — Only five days after Egypt's President Gamal Abdel Nasser had told America in effect to take its aid and "go to hell," the United States is going through with plans to provide him with $167,994,000 worth of surplus wheat.

The Agriculture Department issued an authorization Monday for the purchase of that amount of wheat under the Food-For-Peace program.

The department will pay cash for the wheat in the open market, and Egypt will pay for the grain in its own currency, a part of which will be spent in the United Arab Republic.

Although arrangements for the transaction had been made some time ago, the United States still could have stopped the deal after Nasser's speech of last week.

He accused U.S. Ambassador Lucius Battle of trying to put economic pressure on Egypt and told a cheering crowd in Port Said: "Anyone who does not like our attitude can drink from the sea. And if the Mediterranean is not big enough, we will give him the Red Sea to drink, too."

In Egyptian slang, to "drink from the sea" is the equivalent of "to go to hell."

His outburst apparently was triggered by U.S. accusations that he is aiding Congolese rebels and intimations that future aid deals would be curtailed because of this.

Nasser said in his speech: "We have sent arms to the Congolese rebels, and we will continue to send arms because the rebels need them."

"We do not accept any words gone, leaving a barren glumness in their place.

At home the small boy sits listlessly staring at his broken drum. His older sister — on holiday from school — whines drearily, "What'll I do, Mama, there's no one to play with?" And Mama herself wonders wearily how she's going to summon the strength to get done all the things that cry for her to do.

One by one the browning needles drop from the Christmas tree upon the living room rug. Sensing the decline in family cheer, the dog snarls at the cat, and the cat arches her back and hisses back.

The deterioration in the jolly "Ho, Ho, Ho!" spirit is even more evident outside the home. The postman totes his load of belated Christmas cards with the self-pitying air of an Atlas carrying unnecessary burdens.

In the department stores the clerks, still busy taking back or exchanging presents, are islands of industriousness in the general inertia, but their smiles are forced and they go about their chores reluctantly.

Yes, life is at a halt during the season of the great letdown. But this too will pass.

After the first of January, fired up with new resolutions, everyone will be back on the beam. Some of the mwill even begin to believe in Santa Claus again.

Union to Strike Southern RR at 6 p.m. Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen announced a systemwide strike against the Southern Railway today, effective at 6 a.m. EST.

J. W. Jennings, vice president of the AFL-CIO union, said the walkout resulted from a company move to operate locomotives without firemen. He said both sides had agreed to meet Jan. 13, 1965, to negotiate the issue, and called the company move a breach of contract.

Headquarters of the 8,100-mile line declined immediate comment. A spokesman said there would be a statement as soon as information had been rounded up.

Reports of picketing came in from various points along the 14-state Southern system, which services such cities as Washington, Atlanta, Birmingham, New Orleans, Memphis, St. Louis and Louisville.

"Although the carrier began violating our contract at 12:01 a.m. Dec. 26, the brotherhood refrained from strike action until today, so that holiday travelers would not be stranded," Jennings said in his statement.

He said the carrier could have precipitated the crisis as early as Nov. 13, 1964, when procedures of the Railway Labor Act would have permitted either side to move on its own on the issue.

In addition to the issue of operating locomotives without firemen — or helpers as they are frequently called since diesel units became common — the union is pushing demands for changes in rules on overtime pay, away-from-home expenses, wage and work guarantees, paid holidays and other matters.

Jennings said the union would have been free to strike over those matters since Nov. 13 also.

The Southern was not a party to the national dispute over diesel helpers, going alone in its dealings with the men. The upshot of the national dispute, in which Congress took a hand, was an arbitration ruling that the railroads might eliminate up to 90 per cent of the helper-firemen on diesels, in yard and freight service, beginning last May 7.

In the meantime, Jennings said, Southern made its own demand on the union for revision of the agreement which required helpers on all locomotives. The National edition Board pulled out of the dispute Oct. 13, leaving both sides free to act a month later.

R. M. Gambrell of Birmingham, Ala., the union's chairman on the Southern, estimated the strike would directly affect 1,200 locomotive helpers on that line and its subsidiaries, including engineers on the Georgia & Florida Railroad where the union is bargaining agent.

The union estimated Southern has about 16,000 employees altogether.

President Likes His Scotch, Soda

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson is known to like a scotch and soda on occasion although his doctor says Johnson prefers a bit of bourbon and water before dinner.

Rear Adm. George G. Buckley, White House physician, named bourbon in answering a questionnaire from newsmen Monday. Maybe his information was based on yuletide observations around the LBJ Ranch.

Visitors there have been offered cake and egg nog, and the President's understanding is that egg nog is made mostly with bourbon around these parts.

Hubert Has Resigned as Senator

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President-elect Hubert H. Humphrey formally resigned today as a Democratic senator from Minnesota.

The resignation clears the way for the appointment by Gov. Karl Rolvaag of Walter Frederick Mondale, 36, Minnesota attorney general, to serve during the remaining two years of Humphrey's term.

Humphrey's announcement came with his release of a letter to the governor, dated last Wednesday, saying he was resigning at the close of business to permit the appointment of a new senator effective Wednesday.

The governor announced Nov. 18 he had chosen Mondale, who has described himself as a liberal with views that "closely coincide" with those of President Johnson and Humphrey.

Although Humphrey goes off the Senate payroll tonight, and will not begin drawing his vice-presidential salary until his inauguration Jan. 20, he quit the Senate early to give Mondale seniority over other new senators.

Haul in Two Big Robberies Passes $500,000 Mark

By EDMUND D'MOCH

CHICAGO (AP) — Brink's Inc., estimated today that the company lost $223,000 to three robbers who overpowered two guards and two Roman Catholic priests in a church rectory.

The robbery at Divine Savior church Monday was a virtual replay of last week's half-million-dollar holdup at a church in Paterson, N.J.

A.S. Genet, president of Brink's, and Donald Hogeland, vice president, said in a joint statement the loss was "only an estimate" and that a more accurate figure will be available "late tomorrow."

Hoagland said "a very large portion of the loss was in checks — probably recoverable." He would not estimate how much of the loss was in cash. The funds were insured, he said.

The gunmen invaded the church rectory in suburban Norridge, on Chicago's northwest edge, tied up two priests and awaited the arrival of the Brink's truck, making its rounds of customer collections. When the truck arrived, they ambushed a guard, slugged him and tied him up and drove the truck away.

The gunmen wore halloween masks and a ski hood.

After they tied up the guard and priests in the rectory, one of them removed the guard's jacket, donned it and, averting his face, gained entry to the locked truck from the unsuspecting Brink's driver.

Inside the gunman took over the vehicle and let in an accomplice. They held the driver at gunpoint while driving away from the rectory as the third man followed in the car.

In the Paterson robbery, three gunmen wearing halloween masks robbed a bank truck while it was picking up the Sunday collection at St. Anthony's Catholic Church. The bandits made off with the truck containing $513,000 after binding four priests and guards who entered the rectory to pick up the money.

Joseph W. Tottingham, assistant manager of Brink's Chicago office, said he was unable to estimate the amount stolen Monday. He said it was a "chain store truck" which picks up funds for deposit from chain stores, small businesses, filling stations, and churches.

"We don't know how much money was taken," Lt. George Gruber of the Norridge police said. "We won't know until after an inventory of the guards' calls has been completed."

Here is the account of the holdup told by police and church officials:

The armored truck usually gets to the Divine Savior church on Monday's between 5:45 and 6:30 p.m. It arrived about 2 minutes after 6 p.m.

Guard Robert Johnston, 38, of suburban Alsip entered the rectory and noticed the Rev. Walter Morris, 38, pastor of the church, sitting tied in a chair. Johnston was immediately hit from behind by one of the gunmen.

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Two gunmen robbed the city treasurer's office of an estimated $299,000 today, police reported.

One of the pair beat the city treasurer Melvin Elliott, on the head as Elliott sought to stall them in the office.

Most of the money was believed to have been in checks.

Patrolman Thomas J. Wright, assigned to the office, was in another part of the office at the time.

When told that the gunmen had fled with a money bag, Wright ran outside.

"I got outside in time to see the last of the two entering the car and the car pulling away, and managed to get one shot at the getaway machine," he told a reporter. "I think I hit it."

Mac D. Wicks, a cashier, told police:

"I was holding the money bag. The count was $299,000, mostly checks, when the two men confronted me from outside the counter. I was ordered to hand the bag over and I dropped to the floor. I saw one had a nickel-plated revolver."

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Two gunmen stroled into the city treasurer's office today, slugged the treasurer and escaped with $299,130 in tax-collection money, of which $16,245 was in cash.

The robbery was the nation's second major one in two days. Three robbers fled Monday with an estimated $223,000 from two Brink's Inc. guards in Chicago.

A Brink's truck was to have picked up the Buffalo money half an hour after the gunmen, described as white and in their 30s, entered the office of City Treasurer Melvin W. Elliott at about 9:30 a.m.

Mac D. Wicks, chief teller and a city employee for 28 years, said one walked to her cage, pointed a revolver at her and said: "This is no bull, I want the bag."

She was putting $282,885 in checks, written to the city treasurer and not negotiable, and the cash into a bag.

"I just dropped under the counter and pushed the alarm, and I stayed there until the rest of the girls came to my cage."

Elliott walked up to the cage, unaware that the holdup was in progress.

One man, he said, struck him on the left side of the head.

"I went to one knee," Elliott said. "Then he vaulted the top of the cage, grabbed the bag with Monday's receipts and then jumped back."

The robbers raced down a corridor and fled through the main doors of City Hall.

Patrolman Thomas J. Wright followed the pair into the street. He said he fired one shot at the gunmen's fleeing automobile and believed he hit it. The car, stolen earlier today, was found abandoned half a mile away.

Temperatures Rise Over Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A strong flow of southerly winds raised temperatures in the state Monday night and this morning, leaving readings as much as 20 degrees higher than they were Monday morning.

An increase in moisture associated with the southerly flow produced low clouds and poor visibilities over much of Southern Arkansas, where dewpoints warmer than the ground caused fog and drizzle.

El Dorado, Pine Bluff, Texarkana and Little Rock all reported a trace of precipitation.

The northwest part of the state will get showers or thundershowers beginning this afternoon or tonight, the U.S. Weather Bureau said.

The state forecast was for partly cloudy skies, windy and warmer today. Wednesday there should be considerable cloudiness, along with windy and warm weather, and showers or thundershowers affecting 30 to 50 per cent of the north and west portions and 20 per cent or less of the southeast portion.

Overnight low temperatures were in the 30s and 40s, and lows tonight should be in the 50s northeast to the 40s southwest.

The Rev. Richard Burke, 31, had walked into the room just before the Brink's guard arrived and after the three masked men had tied Father Morris to a chair with surgical tape and gagged him.

Father Burke was knocked to the floor by one gunman and bound with tape.

After the guard was hit, he was tied to Father Burke with tape.

The three masked men, one of them reported as very nervous, then went into action. One robber put on Johnston's Brink's uniform and went outside. He gained admittance to the armored truck and slugged the driver, Bernard Gendek, 27.

The other two men, who had rifled the rectory safe of about $200, ran outside and drove in a car behind the truck to a cemetery near the church.

The men quickly loaded the money into their car, handcuffed Gendek to the cemetery fence and fled.

Heinz Beer, an ambulance driver for the Norridge fire department, had gone to the rectory to see Father Burke. He heard muffled sounds and found the two priests and the guard. Father Burke had managed to dial police after the three gunmen left.

Johnston was hospitalized for lacerations to the head. He was reported to be in satisfactory condition.

Arkansan Has Key Part in Copter Use

EDITOR'S NOTE — Helicopters have been used so freely in Viet Nam that it is sometimes called a helicopter war. But air strikes by conventional aircraft play a big part in operations, as this story of a typical strike discloses.

By PETER ARNETT

BIEN HOA, South Viet Nam (AP) — The quartet of Skyraider fighter-bombers cruised the leaden Mekong River delta skies like sea gulls.

Suddenly they became hawks. One of the chunky, gray planes peeled off from the formation and dived abruptly at a tangle of trees and huts at a canal intersection in the paddy fields 5,000 feet below.

The young Vietnamese pilot smiled grimly as he rammed the stick forward in the screeching power dive. U.S. Air Force adviser Capt. James T. Harwood of Jonesboro, Ark., already had selected the armament.

It was the fiery death, napalm.

"Keep your eye on the far tree line," Harwood told the pilot over the intercom as he watched the altimeter. As the ground rushed up at them there was the familiar crackle of Viet Cong groundfire.

At 100 feet, the pilot jerked back on the stick, his face contorted with the G-forces dragging at him.

A split second later, at 300 knots, they were over a cluster of huts. Two cylinders dropped from the Skyraider's wings.

For 20 seconds a ball of fire raced among the huts as the jellied petroleum sought out holes and crevices where the Viet Cong were hiding.

The Skyraider was well on its way, climbing steeply above the cloud of black smoke on the ground.

"You rolled that stuff among them pretty well," Harwood told the pilot.

The second of the death-dealing quartet already was on its way down.

It was loaded with 500-pound bombs known as "daisy cutters" because of the steel probe welded onto their noses. They detonate before they penetrate the ground.

The Vietnamese pilot was cautious. He released a bomb at 2,500 feet and then pulled out of the dive. Five seconds later the plane trembled as the bomb exploded, leaving a huge crater where a hut once stood.

The two remaining planes were figure-eighting their way onto the target on strafing runs.

Three passes later the quartet left the shambles and flew back to Bien Hoa base.

This mission was over. The results?

The forward air controller, who had pinpointed the target with smoke rockets thrown from a tiny spotter plane, reported 10 structures destroyed and seven bodies sprawled in the wreckage.

"Better than fair," Harwood commented when he heard the report.

WOODLAND HILLS, Calif. (AP) — Bud Abbott, surviving member of the Abbott and Costello comedy team, is being treated for a mild stroke at the Motion Picture House and Hospital.

A hospital official said Monday the 66-year-old Abbott was admitted to the hospital Dec. 16. He said the comedian is doing well.

MOSCOW (AP) — A new work by the controversial poet, Yevgeny Yevtushenko, and composer Dimitri Shostakovich was virtually ignored by Moscow papers.

Only the Labor paper Trud reviewed the work, written by Shostakovich for symphony orchestra, bass soloist and mixed choir. He based it on Yevtushenko's "The Execution of Stephen Razin."

Trud praised the composition, but made no mention of Yevtushenko. Yevtushenko was denounced by former Premier Khrushchev, but later "confessed" his errors.

MANILA (AP) — Comedian Bob Hope played nine holes of golf and then put on a 90-minute show for American airmen and their families at Clark Air Base north of Manila today.

Reds Free Expert to U.S. Mission

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Communist guerrillas today freed a Filipino sugar cane expert of the U.S. aid mission who was kidnapped Aug. 8 with an American field representative, Joseph W. Grainger of Sumter, S.C.

The Filipino, Eligio Lauguico, looked tired and ill.

American officials brought him to Saigon from the coastal city of Qui Nhon. They advised him not to talk to newsmen, but he did say Grainger was "taken deeper into the mountains" after being held with him for the first three months of their captivity.

Lauguico twisted his hands nervously as he waited for transportation from the airport. He said his hands were tied behind his back for most of his captivity.

No details were available on how the Viet Cong released the Filipino. Lauguico and Grainger were traveling in a car in Tuy Hoa Province, about 250 miles northeast of Saigon, when they were captured.

Crumbys Celebrate Golden Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. M. Crumby of Emmet were honored on their fiftieth wedding anniversary with a nopen house given by their children, Sunday, December 20 in the Emmet Methodist Church annex.

A lifelong resident of Emmet and Piney Grove, Mr. Crumby has been a barber most of his lifetime and still operates his shop in Emmet. On Christmas Day, December 25, 1914, he was married to Miss Floy Breed. The couple has two children, George Crumby of Magnolia and Mrs. Sam Vick Scott of North Little Rock.

Miss Kay Scott, a granddaughter, greeted the guests. In the receiving line were the honored couple and their two children. Mrs. Crumby and other members of the house party were given corsages of white mums and the men had white boutonnieres.

A gold cloth overlaid with net covered the table where the guest book was placed beside a white figurine and an arrangement of white mums and a gold taper. Attached to the sides of the cloth were white bells with gold clappers. Miss Martha Lynn Crumby, a granddaughter, presided at the guest book. Other decorations, all gifts of the couple, included a poinsettia, an arrangement of white mums in a gold container, and several yellow potted mums.

The tea table was covered with a brocaded satin cloth with swags of Northern smilax on the sides and gold balls fastened at the corners. White mums, gold bells and gold tapers in a flat container formed the centerpiece. At one end was a silver punch bowl filled with gold punch and at the opposite end was a five tiered wedding cake decorated with gold bells and topped with the numerals "50" in gold. White mints, nuts, punch and individual cakes decorated in gold were served.

Dear Abby: Our baby was born last March. My mother, who lives in another state, wrote and asked me if the baby had been baptized and I replied no. Michigan Is Back on Top of Cage Poll

By HAL BOCK

Associated Press Sports Writer

Today's seminar on how to stay on top of The Associated Press' weekly basketball poll will be taught by Michigan's Wolverines, who seem to have mastered the subject.

The Wolverines, ranked No. 1 for the second straight week, gave Manhattan a basketball lesson in the opening round of the Eastern College Athletic Conference's Holiday Festival at New York's Madison Square Garden Monday night.

Cornell's 36 points overcame some early Garden jitters suffered by Michigan and carried the Wolverines to a 90-77 victory.

Wichita, still second but closing the gap, kept pace with an 86-74 triumph over previously unbeaten Villanova in the Quaker City Tournament. Dave Stallworth scored 29 to lead the Shockers.

Michigan polled 23 first-place votes and 350 points in the voting by 38 sports writers and broadcasters. Wichita, which was 70 points back a week ago, collected 322 points in the tight race for the top spot.

Third-ranked Minnesota had a scare Monday night but held on for a 77-76 victory over Washington in the Los Angeles Classic. In the same tournament, fourth-ranked UCLA ripped Arizona 99-79.

San Francisco, completing the Centenary Cage Meet to Start

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — Representatives of three major conferences team up with host Centenary in the opening round of the Gulf South Classic tonight in the first session of a two-night basketball doubleheader.

Arkansas of the Southwest Conference meets Mississippi of the Southeastern Conference and Virginia Military Institute of the Southern Conference challenges Centenary in the nightcap.

Centenary will be going after an unprecedented fourth title. Only twice — South Carolina in 1960 and Tennessee in 1963 — has the championship left Louisiana.

Top five, routed Pepperdine 103-64 in the Western College Athletic Conference tourney at San Jose, Calif.

Illinois, up to No. 6, lost to 10th-ranked St. Joseph's 75-71. The Hawks grabbed the final in the rankings, ousting Davidson.

Sixth-ranked Indiana, down by two points at the half, came back to rout No. 9 St. Louis. The undefeated Hoosiers are 8-0.

The voting was based on games through Saturday and points were awarded on a basis of 10 for a first-place vote, 9 for second etc.

The top ten, with first-place votes in parentheses, and points:

1. Michigan (23)	350
2. Wichita (6)	322
3. Minnesota (6)	249
4. UCLA	216

Hog Cagers Play Tonight at Shreveport

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Baylor reached the finals of the Poinsettia Classic at Greenville, S.C., Monday night and the Bears also tied Texas A&M for the best season record in the Southwest Conference.

The Bruins beat Furman 39-78 with Winston Moore and Darrell Hardy pitching in 19 points apiece and will play Clemson tonight for the championship.

Baylor got 11 straight points to pull ahead early in the second half.

The Bears now have a 6-2 record, the same as Texas A&M, which plays only one game this week — a clash with Trinity Wednesday.

In two other tournaments the conference didn't do so well. Oklahoma City crushed Rice 93-63 in the All-College tournament at Oklahoma City.

Southern Methodist took a 95-92 overtime licking from Memphis State in the Memphis State tournament.

Memphis State trailed SMU almost from start to finish and it was a set by John Hillman as time ran out that told the story.

Arkansas starts play in the Centenary Invitational at Shreveport tonight, meeting Mississippi; Texas Christian opens its bid in the Sun Carnival tournament against New Mexico; Texas Tech is in the Sugar Bowl tourney while Texas is in the Gator Bowl affair.

Madlock Cagers Clobber Saratoga

Madlock's Texaco Independent cagers soundly thrashed a stubborn Saratoga squad on their own court Monday night before a nice crowd. The Texaco boys are on the comeback trail after being beaten last week for the first time in quite awhile.

Larry Bruce and Dennis Townsend shared top scoring honors with 22 each for the winners.

Prison Cooks for Camps Out for Now

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus said today that the practice of sending state prisoners to work in deer camps has been stopped, at least until the state Prison Board can consider it.

Faubus said he had talked with prison Supt. Dan Stephens and they had agreed that no prisoners would be sent out for the deer season Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

The board will meet at the prison Wednesday and it was expected to discuss the policy. Arnold Rhodes, who was serving life for rape, escaped from a deer camp earlier this month while working as a cook. He was recaptured last week.

Stephens said about 52 prisoners had been loaned out to deer camps for the earlier period and that all of them now were back in prison.

Guerin New Coach of Pro Hawks

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Ben Kerner, the St. Louis Hawks owner who changes coaches with the same ease that New Year's resolutions are broken, is ready to begin 1965 with a new one.

Kerner dropped the ax Monday on Harry Gallatin and named veteran Richie Guerin as player-coach of the National Basketball Association club.

Gallatin must have known his time was short, realizing he had been leading the Hawks for 2½ seasons. Kerner has had nine coaches in the 10 seasons the club has been in St. Louis, and none has lasted that long.

Kerner explains it this way: "I'm at the point that if I don't finish first I'd just as soon finish fourth (last). There's no glory in second to me."

Under Gallatin the Hawks finished second in the Western Division the last two years and are the runner-up now, 3½ games behind Los Angeles.

"There's nothing that we asked Harry to do that he didn't do," Kerner said. "He's a tireless worker. I think Harry did a good job."

But he added: "I felt that after three years our progress wasn't good enough with young players."

TIVERTON, England (AP) — A pair of burglars raided the country home of Mrs. Denys Rhodes, a cousin of Queen Elizabeth II, and made off with money belonging to the Maharani of Sikkim.

Police didn't disclose the amount of money taken from the maharani, who is the former Hope Cook, a New York socialite. The thieves also took some of Mrs. Rhodes' jewels, including a brooch given to her as a wedding present by the queen.

NEW YORK (AP) — Dr. M.

chael E. DeBaKey, the cardiovascular surgeon who recently operated on the Duke of Windsor, says many strokes can be avoided if doctors have access to latest research findings.

The Houston physician, speaking on a television program, called for the Johnson administration to implement a $2.9-billion crash program of research on heart disease, cancer and strokes. The program was recommended by a presidential commission, headed by DeBaKey.

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — Mrs. Harold Wilson, wife of the British prime minister, has been elected "Woman of the Year" by the Association of Turkish Women.

No Volunteer Basis for Danger Work

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Army now assigns officers on a "non-volunteer" basis to the highly dangerous work of the much publicized counter-guerrilla Special Forces, proud wearers of the green beret.

All enlisted men within the Special Forces still are volunteers, however.

The Army said officially, that the assignment of non-volunteer officers was "a matter of policy. This policy has been in effect for a number of years and is followed to provide Special Forces training and experience for a larger group of officers within the Army."

This policy has never been publicized.

Another source said the younger officers in the Army just were not volunteering because "too many have been reading the casualty lists of Special Forces in Viet Nam."

As late as 1960 the men in Special Forces were all volunteers. The Special Forces mission, either behind enemy lines or in counter-guerrilla activities, was considered above and beyond the ordinary call of Year" by the Association of Turkish Women.

12,341 Workers at Space Center

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP) — The NASA-Marshall Space Flight Center ended 1964 with an estimated payroll for 12,341 civil service and contractor employees of $129,598,000.

The center had a 7,622 employees earning about $81 million. In addition to these civil service personnel there were 4,719 contractor employees working at the center with an estimated payroll of $48,958,000.

Aside from these, an estimated 6,000 persons are employed by contractors in Huntsville in connection with the Marshall center programs.

Johnson to Face 1st Full Term at Ease

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst WASHINGTON (AP) — The world was still sticky in 1964 but at home there was steady movement forward and the air was cleared a bit, politically and otherwise, leaving President Johnson to face his first full term at ease on many issues.

Overseas the Berlin wall still stood, a reminder that East-West differences were as stiff as cement. But the United States and he Soviet Union accommodated themselves a little better to the idea that both have to live on one earth.

Egyptian President Nasser, like others this year, rebuffed the United States. He said anyone who didn't like Cairo's attitude could "drink from the sea," an Egyptian way of saying "go to hell."

The 15-member NATO alliance stayed intact but the partners began to feel free to cut their individual capers, now that danger from the Soviet Union has dwindled. It was like a poker game with 15 decks of cards.

The grunts and groans coming out of the split between those one-time allies, the Soviet Union and Red China, added little to enlightenment. They sounded like a couple of used-car salesmen trying to convince a customer on a washboard road.

The new men in the Kremlin, ever since throw up Premier Khrushchev, have been shuffling around a kid of "let's-sho-act, wait for the music to start."

The west doesn't know what they'll do, what direction they'll take, or whether Khrushchev's departure was a turning point in history.

But at home the economy was booming for a record fourth year in a row. To pep it up even more Congress gave it a blood transfusion with the biggest tax cut in history.

In the long view the achievements in the field of citizens' rights, civil and political, per-duity.

This apparently still applies to enlisted personnel.

"Enlisted personnel in operational detachments are volunteers," the Army said. "There has been no difficulty in obtaining volunteers for such assignments."

All Army officers are now required to take either ranger—commando-type training—or airborne training, which is ranger plus parachute training.

Special Forces training includes airborne, ranger, guerrilla and counter-guerrilla training plus special courses in working with what the Army calls indigenous personnel.

The Army spokesman said assignment to Special Forces is considered essential to the professional development of officers.

This means that the man who turns down Special Forces work may jeopardize his professional career as a regular officer. Certainly it would have a bearing on selection for promotion.

Those in VIAL Forces now number close to 7,000 although the official strength figure is classified. When it was an all-volunteer outfit, Special Forces probably numbered no more than 1,800.

There are specialists wearing the green beret who are not and have not been volunteers. They are known as special action forces and include such support groups as communications experts, medics, engineers, psychological operations and civil affairs experts.

Originally, the Special Forces were designed to operate in 10-man teams behind enemy lines to organize and train dissident groups into irregular fighting forces to carry out sabotage and conduct hit-run attacks.

In January 1961, the Special Forces mission was enlarged to embrace counter-guerrilla activities. This enlargement was a direct result of Communist Viet Cong operations in South Viet Nam.

By September 1962, the Special Forces had been enlarged three times and, apparently, its required officer strength could no longer be met on a volunteer basis.

hops will be most memorable. In a year in which three civil rights workers were murdered in Mississippi and Negroes rioted in Northern cities, Congress passed the most far-reaching civil rights act of the century.

Then, with extraordinary speed, the Supreme Court supported it a couple of weeks ago by upholding the new law's ban on racial discrimination in places of public accommodation, like hotels, or motels, or restaurants.

Neither Congress nor the legislatures would correct it. The Supreme Court stepped into this vacuum of responsibility and ordered reapportionment so that each man's vote means as much as any other's.

But it was the presidential election which settled, for years to come, the direction this country will take.

Because Democrats and Republicans for decades looked like twins, the presidential races began to resemble personality contests rather than different views of life and government for voters to choose between.

This year the voters got a clear choice between the conservative Sen. Barry Goldwater and the much more moderate Johnson. The President won with the greatest plurality in history, 43 million to 27 million votes.

As a result, the two parties' candidates for a long time are likely to be liberals or at least middle-of-the-roads.

Celts Win But Not With Top Scorers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Beating the Boston Celtics is tough enough under ordinary circumstances but when your two top scorers produce just 18 points between them, it's just about impossible.

The Los Angeles Lakers learned that Monday night as the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division-leading Celtics trounced them 133-112.

The Lakers, front-runners in the Western Division, got just 12 points from Jerry West and only four from Elgin Baylor and never threatened the Celtics, who had six men in double figures.

The victory kept the Celtics six games in front of Cincinnati which rallied to top San Francisco 113-108. Los Angeles lost a half game of its margin over the Hawks by three games.

Monday night's only other game, Detroit downed New York 123-117.

Leadership in House Is at Stake

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
WASHINGTON (AP) - Speaker John W. McCormack may decide today how far the Democratic leadership will go in cooperating with a group of liberals seeking changes in House rules and reprisals against two Southern Democrats.

McCormack was to return to Washington today. Without his support the changes sponsored by a Democratic study group headed by Rep. John A. Blatnik of Minnesota would have tough sledding in the party caucus next Saturday.

Blatnik said in an interview his group of more than 100 members intends to push its program. But he would make no prediction about the outcome before conferring with McCormack.

Persons close to McCormack represented him as being favorably disposed to one of the major proposals of the Blatnik group. This would break the grip of the Rules Committee on legislation by limiting to 21 days the time it could block a House vote on bills approved by other committees.

To minimize the danger of possible "runaway" committees bringing undesirable bills to the floor, the speaker would determine what measures would be taken up after a 21-day delay in the Rules Committee.

McCormack also was represented as having no objection to several other proposals involving parliamentary procedure and Democratic party organization in the House.

However, he reportedly wants to take a longer look at proposals that would strip the two Southern members of their party standing and seniority, to change the membership ratio on the Ways and Means Committee and to lower the number of signatures needed to make a discharge petition effective.

The Democrats marked for a "purge" if the Blatnik group has its way are Reps. John Bell Williams of Mississippi and Albert W. Watson of South Carolina. Both openly supported Sen. Barry Goldwater's presidential candidacy.

Some Democrats are urging McCormack to support a less drastic plan by forgiving Williams and Watson but putting the party caucus on record as determined to get tough on Democrats who bolt party lines in the future.

JADE FOR A LADY

BY M. E. CHABER

The Story: A girl named Mary May and the city of Hong Kong are the only clues Milo March has in his search for a stolen jade necklace. He has gone to Hong Kong, and now he searches for the girl.

VIII

There was a number listed for Hsu Chin Kwang. I called it. Someone answered and I asked to speak to Mr. Hsu. I was told to wait. After a minute another voice came on. This was a woman's voice, speaking a cultivated English.

"This is Hsu Chin Kwang's daughter," she said. "My name is Milo March. I represent an insurance company in America. I'm looking for information about jade and was told that your father is the foremost authority in Hong Kong. I'd like to talk to him."

"Will you wait a minute, please?" She was gone without waiting for me to answer.

She was back within a few minutes. "Mr. March," she said, "my father will see you tomorrow night. Be here at the house by eight o'clock."

"Where is the house?" "Any taxi driver will be able to bring you to the house of Hsu Chin Kwang. Good day, Mr. March." There was a click and she hung up.

I looked at my watch. There was time enough to do one more thing before business was over for the day. I looked at the names the Inspector had given me. The first name on it was Frank Burney. I went downstairs and took a cab to the address.

The reception room was small and simply furnished, but it looked as if Frank Burney was doing all right. There was a pretty Chinese girl sitting behind a small desk. She looked up and smiled, waiting as I looked the room over.

"Who's calling please?"

"Milo March."

She wrote it down in a book on her desk and looked up. "Your address?"

"New York City. I just arrived in Hong Kong today."

"Where are you staying in Hong Kong?"

"The Far Eastern Hotel."

She wrote that down and picked up the phone. She announced my name, listened for a couple of seconds, then replaced the phone. She gave me another smile. "You may go in, Mr. March," she said. "It's that door."

She indicated the nearer of two doors which led out of the reception room.

I went through the door and into a moderately sized office. And back of the desk there was a big redheaded man with a typically Irish-American face. He stood up and held out his hand.

"Mr. March?"

I nodded and shook hands with him. "You're Frank Burney?"

"That's me," he said with a friendly grin. "You sound and look like an American, too." I said, as I dropped into the chair in front of his desk.

"I am although I've been in Hong Kong for 15 years. I keep telling myself that I'm going to quit and go back to the States next year, but all I've done is keep saying it for 10 years. Well, maybe next year..."

"You sound like an addict," I said.

"It's not a bad town. You're new to Hong Kong?"

"Just got here today. You mean it shows?"

"Most American and British residents know each other. How did you happen to stumble across me?"

"I asked Inspector Simmons at the police to recommend a private detective. Your name was on the top of the list."

"Old Simmons, eh? That's a switch. He doesn't care too much for private dicks."

"So I gathered," I said. "He did add that he couldn't actually recommend anyone; that the list was only those who hadn't done anything illegal so far as he knew."

"That sounds more like him. Well, what can I do for you, Mr. March? It isn't usual to need a private detective the first day in Hong Kong. Looking for someone?"

"In a way," I said. "I need someone who knows Hong Kong well, and especially someone who has access to information about what's going on in the underworld. There's a possibility that the case might get rough. Do you think you're my man?"

"I might be. What's the pitch?"

"I'm an insurance investigator. I'm on the trail of a stolen jade necklace. It was taken a little more than a week ago in New York. I believe that it was stolen by a man and woman, both Chinese, and that they came here. I have a name for the woman, but not for the man. I think they are a part of a large gang operating out of Hong Kong. That's about the story. I deliberately left out the international angle. If he knew about that, he might want more money."

President to Stress U. S. Achievement

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson will stress achievement of the full potential of our resources in his State of the Union message.

The message will be delivered to a joint session of Congress at 9 p.m., Jan. 4 — opening day of the new Congress.

To those seeking a clue as to the tone of his State of the Union message, Johnson is referring them to an article he wrote for the 1964 winter issue of the Texas Quarterly when he was Democratic leader of the Senate.

It begins: "I am a free man, an American, a United States senator, and a Democrat in that order."

"I am a liberal, a conservative, a Texan, a taxpayer, a rancher, a businessman, a consumer, a parent, a voter, and not as young as I used to be nor as old as I expect to be — and I am all these things in no fixed order."

Some excerpts:

"First, I believe every American has something to say and, under our system, a right to an audience."

"Second, I believe there is always a national answer to each national problem, and, believing this, I do not believe that there are necessarily two sides to every question."

"Third, I regard achievement of the full potential of our resources — physical, human and otherwise — to be the highest purpose of governmental policies next to the protection of those rights we regard as inalienable."

"Fourth, I regard waste as the continuing enemy of our society and the prevention of waste — waste of resources, waste of lives, or waste of opportunity — to be the most dynamic of the responsibilities of our government."

Celebrates 50th Wedding Day

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Arthur Gradwohl was dressing a window in a downtown department store when a pretty girl walking by stopped, strolled into the store and gave Gradwohl a big kiss in the store window.

Gradwohl and the pretty girl celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary Sunday.

Republican Storm Rages Over Burch

By HARRY KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP) — The sound and fury of a violent political storm rages over the head of a young man who was almost unknown a year ago — Dean Burch, chairman of the Republican National Committee.

It's an imposing title that Burch, 36, carries. But what does it mean? Is the party chairman a man of power — a gray eminence lurking behind the throne — or is he simply an administrator or figurehead?

One former national chairman, Sen. Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky, sees the national committee chairman as a party housekeeper and not worth any "bloodletting" in the Republican dispute.

Not so, says Gov. Robert E. Smylie of Idaho. One of the leaders of the Burch-must-go forces in the GOP, Smylie says the way things are now the national chairman is neither "a mere figurehead, nor a housekeeper."

"Smylie doesn't know anything about the national chairman's job," retorts William E. Miller, who was Bary Goldwater's running mate and Burch's predecessor as party chairman.

Generally, the job of chairman is to keep the party machinery oiled and humming between elections, to see to it that money is raised, to cool off party feuds and to rally the troops during campaigns.

Many chairmen have been little more than front men who have tuxedo, will travel. Most have been noted political figures working part time at it. Burch, protege of Goldwater, is a full-time chairman with a $30,000-a-year salary.

One thing to keep in mind in trying to define the duties of a chairman is that time, events, the pressure cooker of politics and the man himself all have a hand in molding the job.

For instance, the chairman of a party out of power, such as Burch, must function differently from the chairman of a party in power, such as the Democrats' John M. Bailey.

Bailey must labor in the shadow and under the orders of the unquestioned supreme commander of the Democratic party, President Johnson.

And this is a key to the present GOP battle crackling around Burch.

With no president to answer to, will he step into a vacuum of leadership, tighten his control of party machinery and reinforce a conservative image that GOP liberals and moderates feel will destroy the party?

"As the months wear on,"

Smylie said of Burch at the recent GOP governors meeting in Denver, Colo., "the present chairman will tend ever more strongly to create and solidify the image of a party that the people would not use."

A president provides most of the image for the party in power. He has that magnificent forum of the White House, under the concentrated glare of international publicity.

Who provides the image for the party out of power, in this case the Republicans? The national chairman certainly contributes to it, for his finger is on the party's propaganda button. The mimeograph machines grind at his command.

Newsman rush to him when they want the GOP position on this or that. He can be on camera and in the news daily. By his control of the propaganda organs it is possible for him to help one politician, hurt another, boost himself.

Thus "Who will be the voice of the GOP?" is at the heart of the Republican battle over the chairmanship.

Those who want Burch ousted argue that he would create too conservative an image of the Republicans, that he would be a constant reminder of Goldwater's campaign and crushing defeat.

But others argue that the party image will be made on Capitol Hill, not in the offices of the national committee.

Burch and Goldwater say the GOP leadership — and that's most of the image-making — will lie securely in the hands of the Republican leaders in Congress, as practically always is the case for the party out of power.

A spokesman described Burch as feeling that his role as chairman would be an administrator — more of a creative administrator than a housekeeper, however.

Whatever the varying views on the national chairmanship it apparently is important enough to fight over — and be the central issue of a GOP summit conference of Goldwater, former President Dwight D. Eisenhower an former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

After their meeting Wednesday, Dec. 10, in New York it was even more obvious that Burch was on the spot.

In essence, the three men who have carried the GOP presidential banner in the last three elections agreed that Burch must have widespread support in order to pull the party together from its shattering defeat. A simple majority of votes on the Republican National Committee would not be enough, they indicated.

The national committee is scheduled to meet Jan. 22-23 in Chicago to consider the problem of its leadership. As the situation stacks up now, the vote would be extremely close.
